Course Content

Geography 392 will be offered during the Overseas Field School, Spring/Summer Session (June, July), 2015.

This half-course centers on data collection techniques and field research applied to environmental problems and resources in regions outside North America. The course focuses on recourses, environmental problems relating to both natural and human landscapes. This itinerary provides spatial settings for diverse studies and comparative analyses. Topics will include impacts of climate change, land degradation, deforestation, water issues, geothermal and hydrocarbon recourses, natural environmental disturbances, air pollution, and an examination of different agricultural practices. Particular emphasis will be placed on resource management, conservation, and sustainability of physical and human landscapes within Europe.

The following pre-session components are included: two assignments, and introductory and topical lectures; en route components will include lectures, seminars, one-on-one student-instructor consultations, group study tours, and lectures by local experts. While overseas, students must complete one oral presentation, three field study assignments, an extensive field notebook, and a final examination.

Note: Group travel study is interspersed with numerous opportunities for small group and individual instructor-approved studies.

The final course grade includes these components:

pre-session assignments	15%
an on-site oral presentation	15%
three field assignments.....	30%
a field notebook	30%
a final examination	10%

It is not necessary to pass each component in order to pass the course.

The Registrar will not schedule the Final Exam: it will be scheduled on the last day of the Field School.

599.XX-level courses associated with GEOG 392

Those enrolled in the associated 500-level course will be required to complete all these components but will be held to more rigorous marking criteria for them, including incorporation of more theoretical aspects of geography. In addition, they must complete a proposal for field research, including a literature review, prior to departure. An interim report on data collection will be due half-way through the field course, and a final report resulting from this research will be submitted no later than 6 weeks after the completion of the travel portion of the course.

Students enrolled in the 500-level courses will, in addition, be asked to assume a leadership position with respect to 300-level students, by being assigned to a small group and helping with background information and concept interpretation as required during the course. They will be responsible for submitting a diary of time and content of such activity, which will count toward their final grade.

Expectations:

By the conclusion of the program, a successful student will have acquired

- an understanding of field reconnaissance techniques,
- the ability to produce an academic field notebook,
- a good understanding of environmental issues in Europe,
- insights into physical and environmental processes, and the impacts of various forms of human activities on the environment.

USRI

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI) survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference - please participate in USRI Surveys.

Writing Across the Curriculum

Writing skills are not exclusive to English courses and, in fact, should cross all disciplines. The University supports the belief that throughout their University careers, students should be taught how to write well so that when they graduate their writing abilities will be far above the minimal standards required at entrance. Consistent with this belief, students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their University courses and, where appropriate, members of faculty can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Support Services can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.

Principles of Conduct

The University of Calgary Calendar includes a statement on the Principles of conduct expected of all members of the University community (including students, faculty, administrators, any category of staff, practicum supervisors and volunteers) whether on or off the University's property. This statement applies in all situations where the members of the University community are acting in their University capacities. All Members of the University Community have a responsibility to familiarize themselves with this statement, which is available at: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j-2.html>

Plagiarism

Academic dishonesty is not an acceptable activity at the University of Calgary and students are strongly advised to read the Student Misconduct section in the University Calendar. Quite often, students are unaware of what constitutes academic dishonesty or plagiarism. The most common are 1) presenting another student's work as your own; 2) presenting an author's work or ideas as your own without proper referencing; and 3) using work completed for another course. This activity will not be tolerated in this course and students conducting themselves in this manner will be dealt with according to the procedures outlined in the calendar.

Academic Accommodation Policy

If you are a student with a documented disability who may require academic accommodation and have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre, please contact their office at 220-8237. Students who have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre are not eligible for formal academic accommodation. You are also required to discuss your needs with your instructor no later than fourteen (14) days after the start of this course.

Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy

FOIP: The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) legislation disallows the practice of having students retrieve assignments from a public place, e.g., outside instructor's office, the department office, etc. Term assignments will be returned to students individually, during class or during the instructor's office hours; if students are unable to pick up their assignments from the instructor, they provide the instructor with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to be used for the return of the assignment

Posting of Grades and Pick up of Assignments

- Each assignment must be printed, stapled, and submitted at the start of class on its due date. Electronic copies of assignments will not be accepted.
- Final grades will be available to each student on D2L by password access. Grades will not be available at Geography's main office.
